THE SIDEWALK REPORT. The List Was Six Miles Longer Than It

Established 1870.

Really Ought to Be. Councilman Fulton and his sidewalk auditing committee are experiencing a great deal of vexation in making their final decision as to just what sidewalks need rebuilding and what do not. When Sidewalk Inspector Brusman's report came in it had on its list at least twelve miles of sidewalk that it was considered necessary to rebuild immediately, much of which it was advised to replace with new brick walks. Mr. Fulton and his committee who have an eye to economy thought differently, however, and started out to demolish the report. After five days of hot, hard work they have been fairly successful. Every sidewalk mentioned in Mr. Brusman's report and many that he had forgotten about were eyed with suspicion by the committee and the list chopped down until it is a mere skeleton so to speak of its former obesity. The twelve miles have been reduced to eight and the list Is still being decreased.

A good many of the requests from people that the building be deferred are granted under condition that the walk in question be repaired to last, and the enumeration of walks that should be rebuilt will, when it reaches the council again, not extend over a distance of more than

IT DOESN'T PAY.

To Bun a Dally Train Through Meade, Says the Rock Island.

The citizens of Meade, Kansas, have petitioned the railway commissioners to compel the Rock Island to run at least six passenger trains a week through their town. Until today the service was daily and quite satisfactory to the citizens but beginning today the road has changed the running of the trains on that division so that Meade and the other towns along that line get only three trains a week-

A Rock Island official was seen today and said that the train was taken off because it did not pay and they could not afford to operate a train that lost them money on every trip. "I do not know what the people think the railroad commissioners can do but I don't think they can compel us to throw away money They can compel us to operate the road but we are doing that. What more do they expect to do?"

Assistant General Manager W. I. Allen will arrive from Chicago today and will see about it.

C. Scott is taking his place.

Engineer George Finnie, who has been visiting relatives here for some time past, has returned to St. Louis to take up his run on the Iron Mountain road. Frank Patterson of the Santa Fe has returned from Chicago where he has been attending the annual convention of the train dispatchers of America. He was the only one present from Kansas. There were forty delegates and they were in session three days. The meeting was merely to discuss topics for the advancement of the train dispatcher's

A GROWING ORGANIZATION.

The American Railway Union Will be One Year Old Wednesday.

Among the notable promoters of or-ganized railway labor in Kansas who are representing the state at the national convention of the American italiway union at Chicago, are James Bruce, of Emporia and Fred Combs of Newton. Recently the JOURNAL printed a statistical account of the growth of the union in Kansas, where, for the most part it is in a very healthy condition. The local union at Topeka is, however, one of the things of the past. On the 20th of June, Wednesday, the union will be just one year of age, and yet it already numbers 585 unions in the country and a national membership of more than 85,000, and is still growing with astonishing rapidity. It also has the distinction of having won the only thoroughly successful strike un-conditionally that has been credited to a railway labor organization within the past twenty years.

Short Time at Morton.

The Santa Fe shopmen in Topeka are not the only ones that are suffering be-cause of the hard times. The employes of the Rock Island shops at Horton only work three more hours a week than the shopmen here do. That is they only get in thirty-five hours, working seven hours a day for five days in the week and not at all on Saturday. It is said, however, that they get a little better pay per hour than the men here.

Main Building of the New University. Spear Points.

The laying of the cornerstone of the Pythian university at Gallatin, Tenn., marks an important event in the career of this organization, and Pythianism enters a new field in the advancement of the principles which underlie the order. In this institution education will be given to the children and grandchildren of Knights. and a competent faculty will be secured. It is the only institution of the kind in the world. The main building will cost

The center of the building will have a grand rotunda finished in marble, and the entire exterior will be of handsome Bowling Green stone. The funds are all provided and a plan produced whereby the university will be perfeeted.

ODD FELLOWS.

Remarks on the Numbering of Degrees. Rebekah and Other Notes.

An exchange says facetiously: "We have always admired the manner of numbering the degrees in the subordinate lodge-initiatory, first, second and third. The massive genius that envolved this plan certainly deserves a leather medal. No one but an Odd Fellow and a very odd one at that would think of calling the second degree the first or the fourth the third. Why not number them in rotation—first, sec-ond, third and fourth? Or if we only want three let there be but three.'

The reports of the Rebekah lodges of Pennsylvania show that there are 160 lodges in the state, being a gain of nine during the year, and that the present membership is 3,917 brothers and 6,173

Ancient Order of Foresters of America-The American courts declared their independence of the parent body at Minneapolis in August, 1889, by a vote of 683 to 5. Curiously the independence of American Forestry, like that of the republic, began with a federation of 13 states or grand courts representing them. Since then the order has steadily increased in membership and usefulness and is now composed of 1,100 courts, with 612,000 members. The order has sprung from 13 grand courts in 1889 to 30. New York state has increased its courts form 114 to 268 and its membership in the same time from 13,000 to 31,000. The Knights of Sherwood Forest are

SALVATION ARMY HEADQUARTERS. A New and Imposing Building to Be Erected In New York.

Commander Ballington Booth has approved the plans made for the new national headquarters of the Salvation Army in the United States, and work will at once be begun in removing the old barracks which occupy the site in West Fourteenth street, New York city. The new building will be eight stories high, and the style a modern treatment of the feudal, which has been adapted to the requirements of an office building and at the same time retains a warlike appearance suited to the aggressive spirit of the army it will shelter. The ground plan is 74 feet 6 inches front by 124 feet in depth, and the construction will be of limestone for the first two stories and the remaining six of pressed brick, with limestone trimmings.

The main auditorium, which will be one of the largest in New York, commences at the second story and reaches up to the fifth, with a gallery and a balcony, and will have a seating capacity of about 3,000. Exits will be numerous, and the material used-steel, stone and brick-will render the building absolutely fireproof.

There are to be two turreted corners on the top of the building in front. The Salvation Army flag will fly from the turret at the west corner and the American flag from the east turret. There will be a central tower surmounted by the insignia of the army-the "Blood and Fire" badge. This will be illuminated by electricity at night. Over all will be perched the American eagle.

The cost of the new building will be about $80,000 and the land about $60,-000, bringing the total up to $140,000, exclusive of furnishing. The new headquarters will be dedicated next fall, when General Booth, commander in chief, will visit this country.

The United States division of the Salvation Army has 536 corps or societies and 1,695 officers. There are also 11 slum posts, five rescue homes and three food and shelter depots. The War Cry, official paper of the army, has a combined circulation of 90,000. One edition is published in New York and a second on the Pacific coast, and Swedish and German editions are also printed in New York city.

HARRISON AT THE BAR.

His Barber Has Wrought a Change in the Ex-President's Appearance.

An interesting scene occurred in the United States circuit courtroom at Chicago the other day when ex-President Benjamin Harrison raised his right hand and took the oath of attorneys who practice in the court. The oath was administered to Mr. Harrison by Oliver T. Morton, clerk of the court and son of Indiana's famous war governor. On the bench sat Judge William A. Woods of Indianapolis, who was appointed a judge of the Seventh circuit by the man who was taking the oath. At Mr. Harrison's elbow stood his partner, W. H. H. Miller, who was attorney general of the United States during the last administration, and near him stood John M. Butler, an attorney who is considered the first lawyer of Indiana, and who was

The ex-president retains his portly physique, but wears his beard closely trimmed to a point on the chin, after the style affected by the late James G. Blaine. The revised and abbreviated beard makes quite a change in his appearance.
